LOCAL & PERSONAL

SCHULTZE-FILLEMANN.

The marriage of Miss Clara Irene Fillemann, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fillemann, and Richard Schultze, San Antonio, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Schultze, also of San Antonio, took place at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, June 14, 1936, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Ed Ney, in Hondo, Rev. T. A. Flynn, pastor of St. John's Catholic Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of about forty relatives and friends.

Shasta daisies and fern in white floor baskets flanking the mantel formed a beautiful setting for the ceremony. Tall white cathedral tapers burned in white candelabra on the mantel which also had for adornment a vase of Shasta daisies and fern. Daisies and fern and red radiance roses decorated the reception suite.

The petite bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of snow-cap white embroidered organically fashioned with a redingote over white taffeta and a small toque of white violets with a starched circular veil. Her bouquet was of white roses and valley lilies.

Miss Madeline Droicourt of San Antonio attended the bride as maid of honor. Her floor-length frock was of turquoise blue silk point d'esprit over blue taffeta, with a sash of darker blue velvet extending to the hem of the full skirt. Her picture hat was of leghorn straw with a blue velvet bow. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Master Charles Joseph Ney, in a white linen suit, was ring bearer.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Albert Schultze, as best man.

Following the ceremony supper was served at individual tables. The dining room was adorned with the chosen white blossoms. The table was laid with an ecru filet lace cloth, and was lighted with tall white candles in crystal holders. The bride's cake was a sumptuous white confection of modernistic shape, each of the five sections embossed with pale pink rosebuds and white lilies of the valley, and was topped with white sugar-spun water lilies. Mrs. Felix Richter served the coffee. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Ney, Miss Patty Ney, and Miss W. Droll of San Antonio.

Following the supper, the bride and groom left by auto for their bridal trip, the destination unknown. For travel the bride wore a powder blue light-weight woolen suit, with navy blue hat and accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Schultze will reside in San Antonio.

Mrs. Schultze graduated from Hondo High School. She also graduated from the Santa Rosa School for Nurses in San Antonio and for the past several years has been employed in the nursing profession in that city. Mr. Schultze has been connected with the architectural firm of Harvey Smith in San Antonio for the past eleven years.

Guests for the wedding and supper were: Mr. and Mrs. William Schultze, Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Osborn, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Tengler and son, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Leske, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Franz, and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey P. Smith, Messrs. Albert Schultze, Frank Steinkrueger, and James R. Cummins, Misses Madeline Droicourt, W. Droll and Hazel Halbardier, and Mrs. Mary Russi, all of San Antonio; Mr. Herman Fillemann of Eagle Pass, Mrs. Helen Hubbard of D'Hanis, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fillemann and family of San Angelo, and Rev. T. A. Flynn, Harry Fillemann, Homer Rothe, Misses Charlotte Miller and Anne Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fillemann, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Richter and son, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ney and family.

WOLFF-MUSSMANN.

On Thursday afternoon, June the eleventh, at 3 o'clock, the St. Paul's Lutheran Church was the scene of an impressive ceremony when Miss Josie Mussmann, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mussmann, became the bride of Mr. Earnest J. Wolff, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wolff of D'Hanis. Rev. W. C. Leibfarth officiating.

The church was beautifully decorated with daisies and fern. The bride entered on the arm of her father while the wedding march was played by Miss Irene Mechler, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Arnold Mussmann. The bride's only attendant was Miss Lorine Haass.

The bride wore a tailored suit of blue crepe with white accessories and a corsage of white gladiolas. Miss Haass wore a tailored suit of pink crepe with white accessories and a corsage of pink gladiolas. The men wore dark grey suits.

Following the wedding a buffet luncheon was served to the bridal party and the immediate family at the home of the bride's parents. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Wolff left for a short wedding trip. After their return they will make their home north of D'Hanis where the groom is engaged in farming.

Their many Medina County friends extend congratulations and best wishes.

Three famous smiles all in a row. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt enjoying Texas hospitality on their tour of the State last week, with Governor James V. Allred serving as official host. Further evidence of the cordial relations existing between the Texas and National administrations is the naming of Governor Allred to nominate Vice-President John N. Garner at the Democratic Convention in Philadelphia.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

"I have bought five yoke of oxen and I go to prove them: I pray thee, have me excused." Luke 14, 19. This is one of those "last minute" excuses. This man was invited to the supper before. But when the call was received "Come, for all things are now ready", he joined the rest in a hastily-devised excuse. It was an outright offense to the host.

So is the Kingdom of God, Jesus informs us. Many are called, not all respond. Those Jews, of whom it might be expected, rejected. And so it is today—of such whom the Lord has favored with the invitation, and they are all who are called by the Gospel—many, of whom it may reasonably be expected, offend with some devil-inspired excuse. It hurts, of course. But then, there are others—the halt and blind, and who accept those on the byways, the "highways and hedges" and they can be compelled to come in, that His house become filled. Despite weather and other handy excuses, God's call will be heard and followed by some. By you?

English service at 10:00 A. M. according to summer schedule next Sunday. Sunday school and Bible class begin promptly at 9:00 A. M. Service at Sprotville at 2:30 P. M.

HONDO METHODIST CHURCH.

Shan M. Hull, Pastor.
The pastor will be out of his pulpit this coming Sunday, as he will be in Dallas, attending the Pastor's School at S. M. U. However, his pulpit will be occupied at both the morning and evening services.

Mr. B. L. Dickhut, a very prominent layman from San Antonio, will occupy the pulpit at the eleven o'clock hour, and bring a special message for Layman's Day, as we will be observing Layman's Day at that time. Rev. Robt. Pain, pastor of the New Fountain Methodist Church, will speak at the evening hour, the service beginning at 8:15. Rev. Pain is capable of bringing a helpful and inspiring message. We trust that the membership and our friends will give both of the speakers next Sunday a fine hearing.

The pastor will be back in his pulpit the fourth Sunday, for both the morning and evening services. "Come thou with us, we'll do thee good."

BRUCKS REUNION.

The descendants of the original John Brucks family met in reunion on Sunday, June 14th, at the Quihí Gun Club grounds, to commemorate the 90th anniversary of the arrival of John Brucks and family and his settlement at Quihí on March 2, 1846, which also marks the first settlement of Quihí. Tables, seats and benches were provided for, good barbecue and coffee had been prepared, and when the families arrived they brought other eatables in baskets and boxes for the midday lunch.

During the dinner hour the various families more or less bunched together to eat the lunches and it formed a most pleasing sight to see how the original family composed of father, mother, and three children, had multiplied so that now it comprised enough members to form a small tribe itself.

Later in the afternoon the assemblage was called together in the hall where all joined in singing "America", after which a sketch of the life of the Brucks family, compiled by Miss Josie Rothe, was read by Mr. W. E. Albrecht. It recited the journey across the ocean, their landing at Corpus Christi, the tollsome trip across to San Antonio and Castroville and the final settlement on the Quihí creek, in company with about ten other families. As they were uninformed as to dangers and hardships incident to pioneer life some of the families moved to other parts of Texas and never returned, while the Brucks, although temporarily living in San Antonio to make a living, came back to make a permanent home at Quihí. The three branches of the family are now represented by the Sauter, B. Brucks and Hy. Brucks family, whose descendants are now living in various parts of Texas as well as other States.

It was decided to have another reunion next year at Ft. Lincoln, opposite the old home of Mrs. Gertrude Brucks Sauter.

QUIHI NOTES.

And Abraham planted a grove in Beersheba, and called there on the name of the Lord, the everlasting God. Gen. 21:33.

Perhaps there was a farewell banquet before the king and his retinue left for home, with the exchange of cordialities, trivialities, formalities. Nothing said, nothing missed. Often the mouth is feasting at such occasions; the heart is in the highlands, somewhere. But a lasting memento is mentioned, the planting of a memorial grove, and a Thanksgiving Day service of praise and joy, and again to invoke the blessing of the everlasting God for the treaty accomplished. Why always inject religion into these affairs, the "religious test" that we so forcibly detest (on the surface at least), that "private conviction" that we are so overly careful to hide, Sundays and week-days, in conversations and bargains, in private matters and national achievements? Is the thing so flimsy that it cannot stand the sunlight and public gaze? Is it such a shameful act, to sing and pray and go to church and openly show our allegiance to Him to Whom we resort in tearful moments and wakeful nights? A mocking bird on a tree near by is rehearsing and reciting her best compositions sun-up, sun-down, often at midnight, and all day long, caroling this very minute, festivity or not, audience or no audience, approved or disapproved. Just a little jubilant soul glorifying her Maker. And that jubilation, grand and happy, makes her name in the world of birds, not her looks and build and agility, not her nest and fledglings and kinship. Ne'er a world would be said about Abraham in high places and his splendid career, were it not for his jubilant and unswerving loyalty to his God during his day for a wayward and idolatrous generation. And so has our life with all its appurtenances and accessories only sound and luster and consequence in proportion to our loyalty towards the same everlasting God.

Far away Arizona is harboring some of our people for the time being. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Lindeburg are vacationing there and the last reports indicate pretty days. It will not last too long for there is someone left behind tugging at their heartstrings.

Elroy Charles John were the names selected for the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lindeburg who received holy baptism last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nietenhoefer and Mr. John Lindeburg were the sponsors. May the Lord keep the child in His everlasting grace.

'Twas a rather warm night for our Luther League program, but the audience was there, inside and outside, and so were the contributors without a miss, and we again were treated to fine numbers. Thanks all around. In the business meeting following, the celebration of the great "Fourth" was discussed and the next issue of the paper will tell you all about it. Look for it and prepare to be with us. The assignments for the next program are these: Recitations, the Misses Aileen Grell, Hulda Neumann; select readings, Arnold Reitzer, Mrs. Roy Dailey; vocal selections, Otto Lindeburg, Elmer Nietenhoefer; instrumental number, Mrs. Frank Boehle.

Announcements for June the 21st: German service at 10; Sunday school in full at 9; English service 8 P. M. Worship the Lord while you can.

THE BIG IDEA.

By Clayton Rand.

- Merchants sometimes squawk over the economic waste of competitive advertising.
- They think that they and their nearest competitor scrap over the customers' dollar like two dogs fight over a bone.
- A town blessed with live merchants who freely use the advertising columns of their local paper sell a bigger idea than a little merchandise.
- Their combined effort builds a better local market—a more active trading center.
- Even the piker who won't advertise benefits from their collective effort—for more people come to town to stumble into his place of business.

It is my conviction that the ideal which inspired a million American boys in 1918, expressed in the great slogan "to make the world safe for democracy", ought still to fly from the mast of the American ship of state. But that means two things to me. First, that we keep ourselves out of war by an intelligent control of our government. Second, that we make our democracy such a success in the progressive organization of government to meet and solve our economic and social problems that democracy will be secure in this country and thus provide an example for the rest of the world.—Dr. John W. Studebaker, U. S. Commissioner of Education.

LEST WE FORGET.

On November 15, 1922, the obligations of the various foreign governments held by the U. S. Treasury aggregated $10,045,282,026.60.

The cash advanced to Italy was $1,648,034,050.90. The amount funded June 15, 1925, was $1,648,034,050.90 plus accrued interest, or $2,042,000,000. Under the terms of settlement the payments were spread over a period of sixty-two years, with easy annual payments of $5,000,000 for the first five years, and increasing each year thereafter from $12,000,000 on the sixth year, and reaching $79,400,000 in the last year of payment.

After the first five years interest is fixed at 1-8 of one per cent for ten years and then increases for successive ten-year periods to 1-4 of one per cent, 1-2 of one per cent, 3-4 of one per cent and 1 per cent, and the last seven years are 2 per cent. The United States was to have received during the period of the agreement a total of $2,407,000,000.

The date of settlement was June 15, 1925. The first payment was made June 15, 1926.

Italy's defaults in payments to date amount to $47,853,383.64, but in 1935, she began a military conquest of Ethiopia which has cost her over a billion dollars, and now plans, according to the press, to spend another billion dollars in exploiting this forlorn country.

Is there nothing to be done, not a word that our State Department can say to this country which pleads its inability since the World War to pay its indebtedness to us, and during the past eighteen months has expended nearly one-half the total amount of its debt to us in military conquest of a helpless country, a fellow-member of the League of Nations and of the Kellogg Pact?

FEDERAL HOUSING LOANS.

Federal Housing Administration had insured 29 modernization notes, valued at $8,974 in Medina County through April 30, 1936, it was announced Wednesday by H. P. Drought, state director of the National Emergency Council for Texas. For the entire state, 33,829 modernization notes valued at $11,108,322.16 had been insured.

The agency had accepted 2 mortgages, valued at $3,900, for insurance in this county as of March 31, 1936, Drought reported. For the state, Federal Housing Administration had accepted for insurance 2,353 mortgages amounting to $8,591,815.

It was estimated that through the Federal Housing Administration some 30,000 Texas property owners have been enabled to obtain loans required to repair, improve or modernize their property while more than 2,000 families have been enabled to finance the building or purchase of homes.

Landon and Knox Nominated by Republican Convention

All Rivals Withdraw From Race—Platform Strengthened by Kansan's Interpretation—Great Ovation Is Tendered to Herbert Hoover.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

© Western Newspaper Union.

For President—Alfred Moosman Landon.
For Vice President—Frank Knox.

Convention Hall, Cleveland, Ohio.—Alf M. Landon of Kansas, forty-eight-year-old governor of that "typical prairie state" as Postmaster General Farley termed it, is the standard bearer of the Republican party, unanimously nominated by the convention, virtually by acclamation.

"Oh, Susannah" becomes the party song and "Three Long Years" its chant, and sunflowers are blossoming all over the land.

Landon's several rivals for the high honor all withdrew from the race before the call for nominations, and all votes pledged for others than the Kansan were released.

Second place on the ticket went to Col. Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News. This, too, was a unanimous choice, made after three others who had been put in nomination withdrew and urged the selection of Knox.

Landon's victory signalized the supremacy in the convention of the younger element in the party—men and women not necessarily young in years but those who are young in professional politics. The members of the Old Guard, mostly conservative to a degree, were either absent from the roll of delegates or were so far in the minority that they were compelled to let the more liberal element do as it pleased. It was an unbossed convention and the decision as to the candidates was not reached in any "smoke-filled hotel room."

What the Platform Promises.
"America is in peril" are the opening words of the preamble to the platform on which Landon and his running mate stand, and they are followed by the reasons for the statement found in the doings of the Roosevelt administration. The most vital planks were those dealing with farm problems, the tariff, foreign relations and especially money, and it required a lot of discussion and tinkering to put these in shape. Summarized, they are:

Agriculture: We propose to facilitate economical production and increase consumption on a basis of abundance instead of scarcity . . . A national land-use program . . . protection and restoration of the land resources . . . payment of reasonable benefits upon the domestically consumed portion of such crops (with exportable surpluses) . . . government assistance in disposing of surpluses.

Tariff: We will repeal the present reciprocal trade agreement law. We will restore the principle of the flexible tariff. We will adjust tariffs with a view to promoting international trade, the stabilization of currencies, and the attainment of a proper balance between agriculture and industry.

Foreign affairs: We pledge that America shall not become a member of the League of Nations or of the World Court nor shall America take on any entangling alliances in foreign affairs. We shall promote the great cause of international arbitration through the establishment of free, independent tribunals.

Money: We advocate a sound currency to be preserved at all hazards . . . We oppose further devaluation of the dollar . . . We will restore to the congress the authority lodged therein by the Constitution to coin money and regulate the value thereof by repealing all the laws delegating this authority to the Executive.

Strengthened by Landon.
If the truth be told, the platform was not the strong, forthright declaration of principles and intentions that a vast number of Republicans had hoped it would be. The resolutions committee, dominated by the Landon men, thought it necessary to make many compromises, and in especial they sought by every means to gain the approval of Senator Borah. Indeed, his suggestions for the planks concerning foreign affairs, monopolies, money and labor were incorporated in the platform. But, before putting Landon in nomination, his manager, John Hamilton, read to the convention a telegram from the governor that really put teeth in the platform.

The governor said that the resolutions had been communicated to him, and that if nominated he would accept them unqualifiedly. But he thought it only honest to give his interpretation of certain planks. He continued:

"Under the title of labor, the platform commits the Republican party as follows:
"Support the adoption of state laws and interstate compacts to abolish sweatshops and child labor, and to protect women and children with respect to maximum hours, minimum wages, and working conditions. We believe that this can be done within the Constitution as it now stands."

"I hope the opinion of the convention is correct that the aims which you have in mind may be attained within the Constitution as it now stands. But, if that opinion should prove to be erroneous, I want you to know that, if nominated and elected, I shall favor a constitutional amendment permitting the states to adopt such legislation as may be necessary adequately to protect women and children in the matter of maximum hours, minimum wages and working conditions. This obligation we cannot escape."

Landon's Gold Policy.
"The convention advocates: 'A sound currency to be preserved at all hazards.'"

"I agree that 'The first requisite to a sound and stable currency is a balanced budget.' The second requisite, as I view it, is a currency expressed in terms of gold and convertible into gold. I recognize, however, that the second requisite must not be made effective until and unless it can be done without penalizing our domestic economy and without injury to our producers of agricultural products and other raw materials."

"The convention pledges the party to the merit system and to its restoration, improvement, and extension. In carrying out this pledge, I believe that there should be included within the merit system every position in the administrative service below the rank of assistant secretaries of major departments and agencies, and that this inclusion should cover the entire Post Office department."

Though Senator Borah, leaving Cleveland just before the nominations, said the platform in general met with his approval, Landon's enlargement of the labor and money planks certainly was not what the Idahoan had favored.

Ovations for Herbert Hoover.
If anyone thought former President Hoover had become something of a nonentity in the Republican party's councils and in the esteem of the rank and file of Republicans, the reception given that distinguished guest of the convention must have disabused him of the idea. Mr. Hoover, on his arrival Wednesday, was greeted by an immense and enthusiastic throng, and throughout the day, though closeted in his room, he was consulted by many party leaders. The session that evening was given over almost wholly to listening to his address, and it was well worth hearing. During half an hour of tumultuous demonstration he was forced to stand bowing and smiling before he could utter a word; and when he did begin to talk he was followed with deep interest and his many telling phrases were cheered to the echo. He was serious throughout, and seriously called on his fellow Americans to pledge themselves to a crusade for human freedom.

Diary of the Convention.
Assembling Tuesday noon in the great Public Auditorium where Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the Presidency twelve years ago, the convention was welcomed by Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland and proceeded to do a lot of routine business, necessary but uninteresting, with National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher presiding. This included the selection of Senator Frederick C. Steiwer, as temporary chairman. The evening session, enlivened at its start by some fine singing by Mr. Werrenrath, was notable for the keynote speech. The Oregon senator had been given the job of delivering a lot of hard hits at the Democratic administration, and he lived up to expectations. There was not, perhaps, a lot of statesmanship in his speech, but it was full of pungent phrases. Read a few of them:

"The New Deal depends on bookworms for practical experience and on hookworms for energy."

"New Deal extravagance is bending the backs of the people with an unfair burden and has condemned all the babies of the entire nation to be rocked in cradles decorated by debt."

"Fixing of prices by monopolies and combines picks the pocket of the buying public."

"There are no party lines when human liberty is at stake."

"For three long years we have had a government without political morality."

The senator reiterated with great effect that "three long years" until the convention and the galleries roared it in unison and the quick-witted band leader had the brasses playing it in three notes. By the next day the catch phrase had been made into a Republican song to the tune of "Three Blind Mice."

Rules Committee Plan Upset.
During the Wednesday morning session, devoted to business, the convention demonstrated its independence by upsetting the plan of the rules committee to increase the representation of Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia from three to six votes each. A minority report against this was adopted.

Next came the induction of Bertrand Snell of New York as permanent chairman. This veteran of many conventions spoke at length, and his denunciation of the New Deal was a better job than was Senator Steiwer's. He termed the Republican campaign a new crusade—a crusade to restore to the American people their Constitution and their liberties, and in prophetic mood, he said: "When the victory is won we shall give America a government high above the plane of party politics. We shall need in executive positions the services of constitutional Democrats and Republicans alike."

The second evening session was the Hoover session, told of above. It might be well to add the incident of Queenie Ethel Clair of New York. That personable blonde lady, grabbing a flag, led a prolonged demonstration after Mr. Hoover had left the platform and the hall, screaming "Hoover for President." She enlisted the aid of a good many delegates and gallery spectators, but the uproar, besides being a tribute to the high esteem in which the former President is held, was kept up mainly because the crowd wanted to let off steam.

Thursday the Big Day.
Because the platform committee was still struggling with its task, the convention met Thursday morning and again in the afternoon only to recess. For the third time it was called to order at eight in the evening, and the platform was read, rather perfunctorily cheered in spots, and adopted without contest.

Then Chairman Snell hushed the hall and uttered the long waited order for a roll call for nominations for President. Alabama passed. Arizona yielded to Kansas, and a yell arose as the chairman recognized John Hamilton. That alert and handsome gentleman strode up the platform, his chin decorated with a big plaster. He hadn't been biffed—it was just the result of a slipping razor. When quiet could be restored, Mr. Hamilton plunged into his speech with vigor and evident enjoyment. Loud cheers came for almost every phrase as he described the man whom he was to put in nomination and when he named Landon the pen up excitement and enthusiasm broke all bounds. Bands blared, flags waved wildly and the delegates followed their state standards in procession about the hall.

Half a dozen delegates, several of them women, seconded the nomination of Landon, and then those who have been his chief rivals for the honor came forward one after another and eloquently and heartily indorsed the evident choice of the convention, pledging their full support for his election. These gentlemen were Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, Col. Frank Knox of Illinois, Senator Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa, Gov. Harry Nice of Maryland and Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Balloting for the nominee was a necessary formality. The result was: For Landon, 984; for Borah, 19. Eighteen of the Borah votes came from Wisconsin, which delegation immediately moved that the nomination be made unanimous. The other Borah vote was that of Carl Bachmann of West Virginia, who had been manager of the Borah campaign.

Knox for Vice President.
Selection of a Vice Presidential candidate at the closing session presented some difficulties. The Landon people wanted Vandenberg, but the Michigan senator refused repeatedly and firmly. Colonel Knox, Governor Nice, Walter Edge of New Jersey and Col. Arthur Little of New York were put in nomination, and it soon became evident the choice of the convention would be Knox as state after state seconded his nomination. Edge, Nice and Little withdrew their names, and the Chicago publisher became the unanimous choice for the second place on the ticket.

Washington Digest

National Topics Interpreted

by William Bruckart.

National Press Building

Washington, D. C.

Washington.—I have received a letter from a reader in my home state of Missouri, propounding a very timely inquiry concerning the public debt of the

Our Public Debt
United States. It is timely for more than one reason. The United States government operates on a fiscal year running from July 1 to the next June 30 and we are, therefore, just about to close another fiscal year. A second reason why this inquiry is timely relates to the size of the present public debt, almost $32,000,000,000.

Our public debt has surged higher than normal during two periods of the last twenty years and the course of the debt, therefore, is one with which most mature persons are more or less familiar. But it remains as a fact that, while most people are informed concerning the total of the national debt, they have not had opportunity to learn exactly what it means to the individual.

Treasury transactions, as a whole, are rather difficult to understand and since the sums in which government figures now run are so huge, the general attitude of individuals is to let the thing pass as a matter for expert attention. It ought not to be so. The public debt is a matter of direct concern to every one of us and that is a further reason why the inquiry mentioned above is important.

I have often wondered whether individuals, in considering whatever obligations they have in the form of debt, take into account the fact that the public debt actually is a commitment against you and me and everyone else.

Persons who have not so thought of the public debt, probably will be shocked to learn that in addition to their obligations that have been contracted personally, there is something like $245 which, although an infinitesimal portion of the public debt, constitutes actually an individual obligation.

Therefore, when any person looks at that vague and shadowy term, "the public debt" in this light, they cannot help but realize that it has a very real and personal meaning to the individual. That enormous sum of nearly $32,000,000,000 must be paid off as any other debt and the government must collect it from everyone who lives in this country.

Again, the public debt may seem a thing far removed but it is brought home directly to each of us through the taxes we pay and in more ways than most of us care to admit we are contributing that tax. So, when the government contracts a debt and arranges to pay it off, the only way collection is possible for the extraordinary amount is by increasing the share of government expenses which each of us bears, meaning of course, an increase in our tax.

Some History
In 1837, the public debt was only $28,700,000. In that year, each person's share was only $1.01. With the advent of the Civil war, the government needed funds and began borrowing additional amounts until in 1896 the debt reached what in those days was a high figure—$2,750,000,000. At that time, each person's share was $77.69.

Good administration and sound financial policies followed and the debt was reduced, paid off, until during the early 1900's, the debt was reduced until each person's share was something less than $17.

Continual retrenchment was carried on until the World War interrupted the program and fresh borrowings were necessary for prosecution of that great conflict. The borrowing of the war years carried our public debt to a new high point of $28,594,000,000 on August 19, 1919.

The debt, because it was a new one, looked insurmountable and it was dangerously high but through the administrations of Presidents Harding and Coolidge, the job of paying off the debt was seriously attacked and this program eventually resulted in reduction of the debt to about $16,500,000,000 during the administration of President Hoover.

It was from this low point that the present debt burden has mounted and continues to climb. The depression reduced government income from taxes and left the treasury with a deficit in two years of the Hoover regime.

The result of those deficits was to increase the public debt because money had to be borrowed to pay current running expenses. The borrowing did not appear serious, however, either in the last two years of the Hoover administration or the first year of the administration of President Roosevelt because Mr. Roosevelt had pledged the country during his campaign to economize in every direction. It was his promise that he would curtail expenditures by one-fourth and therefore make the outgo and income of the government approximately the same.

Instead of that course, Mr. Roosevelt initiated the present program of expenditures in huge amounts. The first plan called for the use of vast sums or expenditure by the government in the belief that the paying out of public money would revive industry and at industry, once on its feet, would turn produce taxes for the government. Then came the public relief programs for which larger sums—to be exact, $3,500,000,000 in one year and $4,880,000,000 in another year—were appropriated and spent. Thus, we see in the last three years that the debt of the nation has grown from approximately $21,000,000,000 to approximately $32,000,000,000, and each person's share, as stated previously, is about $245.

Tell the Story
Now, the figures here set out tell much more of a story than just that an enormous and incomprehensible number of dollars have been spent, millions of them needlessly. They tell more of a story, indeed, than just the fact that within another year there will have been approximately $3,000,000,000 more expended and that the debt then will have been increased something like $13,000,000,000 since the Roosevelt campaign of spending began.

To understand the situation in which the United States government and, therefore, the people, find themselves, it might be better to picture what would happen to an individual in the same circumstance. Hundreds of thousands of individuals are in debt but nearly all of them seriously try to avoid getting in debt beyond their capacity to pay off their obligations. If sickness or poor crops or poor business or any one of many other afflictions overtake that individual, even though his personal debts might be liquidated under normal conditions, he is—well, he just sinks.

Our government differs from that individual only in the fact that its citizens regard the government's credit as virtually limitless. It can continue to borrow and people will accept government bonds in exchange for their money for quite a while. But let us attempt to visualize in our mind's eye what would happen should our government be called upon to meet some extraordinary conditions that would be comparable to the loss of a job by the individual who is in debt.

Just how would our government meet the requirements of another war, for example? Just how would it be able to care for the destitute and the jobless, for another example, if our economic conditions would go into another tailspin and we would find ourselves in another depression? The answer seems fairly obvious.

So, I cannot help asking which is the wiser policy—to prepare for future emergencies or to indulge in reckless spending with no thought beyond the present?

Too Optimistic
It seems to me that the Roosevelt administration has followed the latter course on the optimistic base, entirely too optimistic it appears and has plunged this country too deeply into debt.

I do not mean to imply that government securities are not good any longer. Far from it. I maintain that as long as our money is any good, our government's bonds are good. Yet, it must be apparent to every thinking person that we cannot continue to spend at the rate that marks the last three years.

I prefer, as against the present spending policies, the policies of President Andrew Jackson, who fought always against excessive costs of government; who demanded consistently that the expense of government be raised regularly for each year's payments and that there be a little extra put away for the proverbial rainy day when the government was called upon for emergency payments. The policies of Andrew Jackson were so effective that during his administration in 1837, the public debt was wiped out and there was actually cash in the treasury besides.

Supporters of the present spending policies will say, of course, that the public debt of those days was in no way comparable to that of 1936. That is true but neither were the resources of the United States in those days comparable to the resources and the wealth producing capacity of the present-day United States. Likewise, the population of the United States in Andrew Jackson's term in the White House was only a mere handful compared to the nearly 130,000,000 of 1936.

So, answering the inquiry as to what the public debt means to the individual citizen, the answer must be a relation of the fact that his family's share as we start a new fiscal year in the government approximates $1,000. It means, further, that through one form of tax or another, that individual is helping to pay the interest of more than $710,000,000 every year. It means, in addition, that his government is in a position for the first time in the lives of most persons now living where it would face extreme difficulty were it called upon to defend our country in war or meet a fresh emergency like that through which we have been passing. Lastly, since government debts in the United States are held to be honorable debts and not to be repudiated, none of us can avoid commands from that government in the future to dig deeper and deeper in the old pocket for the payment of taxes.

St. Paul's Cathedral Not Quite What Wren Wanted

Christopher Wren was determined to build St. Paul's cathedral in the classic style with a great central dome with other lesser domes, if possible, surrounding it. His original design, however, was rejected. The cathedral that he did build was in the classic style, but he was obliged to add a sort of clerestory in the nave as a compromise with the committee that liked Gothic better. The great dome he was allowed to give us, but the other domes had to go.

But few of the great men of history have ever suffered more in this particular way than Wren, who amidst opposition and controversy worked for $1,000 a year and was dismissed in the middle of his task because the progress that he was making with it was too slow. Fortunately he was recalled, and lived to see the great building completed. Canon W. H. Elliott in John O'London's Weekly.

NOT SO GOOD ON SPELLING.

It is an interesting game—this hunting the misspelled words in a half-page advertisement. It teaches the lesson also that speaking generally good spellers are few.

Out of twenty-five lists handed in, only five had our selected list complete and not until we reached the eighth list in the order of their receipt did we find the correct list. It was handed in by Maurice Joseph Zerr who gets the $1.50. Following are the words:

carefully Fittings Laid
Mentholatum Hungry
Bargain Selling
Quality Opening
Grocery Buy
Thirteen, Mrs. M. F. Schweers;
15, Mrs. Ed. Cameron; 16, Mrs. Volney Boon; and 22, Mrs. Alfred Schweers are the other four complete lists.

Several caught the proofreader napping again and insist that "vapor" should be spelled "vapo rub" and that we should separate with a space the "de" from the "lux" in "deluxe". One insists "Kruschen" should have another "e", thus "Kruessen"; another thinks "losses" should be "loses"; while still another thinks "Goodyear" should be two words "Good Year".

What do you say? Wouldn't you like to be a proof-reader?

But remember—next week is another time and the race is not always to the swift. Be sure you are right, then hand in your list.

SAN ANTONIO LIVESTOCK.
Monday, June 15 1936.

Supplies of cattle at San Antonio which were the heaviest last week for any week since December, continued heavy again Monday and tended to further break prices after losses registered last week of around 25 to 50 cents on most slaughter calves and cows. Late rounds Monday developed a further weakness and trade became dull and uninteresting, with calves showing further declines of around 25 cents in spots. Cows were weak but other classes held about steady with last week's close. Estimated receipts consisted of 600 cattle and 800 calves.

Fed steers and yearlings were scarce. Matured grass steers sold mostly at $5.25 and $5.75, few to $6.00 and down to $4.50. Good grade fat calves and yearlings cashed at $5.75 to $6.50, few strings $6.75, medium kinds $4.75 to $5.50, and "rannies" down to $3.25. Common to medium grade butcher cows brought $3.25 to $4.00, few fat cows to $4.50. Cutter grades sold mostly at $2.50 to $3.25. Best weighty bulls were slow at $4.50 to $4.75 odd head above, light weights down to $3.25.
Stocker and feeder heifer calves mostly $4.50 to $5.00, steer calves of good quality, $5.00 to $6.00, few above.

Hogs, receipts 300. After advancing 25 cents last week the hog market opened Monday active and strong with last week's close. Good to choice 175 to 200 pound truck offerings went at $9.00, top to all interests. Best 140 to 150 pound $8.00 to $8.75, 150-170 pound $8.25 to $8.75, few light weights to $9.00;
200 to 300 lb. $8.25 to $8.75, few
$9.00; 300 to 350 lb. $7.75 to $8.50.
Packing shows mostly $7.25 to $7.75, few to $8.00.

Sheep, 50 head. Market about steady. Odd lots of shorn aged wethers around $3.50. No lambs or goats on offer.

Revolving doors make good stables for merry-go-round horses.

ALF M. LANDON

FRANK KNOX

"Win With Landon!" Is G. O. P. Convention Cry

Confident, Cheering Republicans Unanimously Acclaim Kansan and Knox.

Cleveland, Ohio.—To a man, the Republican party stands behind Alf M. Landon of Kansas and Frank Knox of Illinois, convinced that victory lies ahead in November, as a result of one of the most stirring and harmonious conventions in the party's history.

There was never a doubt as to the faith of the delegates that Landon and Knox can beat Roosevelt. Both were nominated unanimously, Landon by acclamation.

Landon's name was the only one presented to the convention. It was the first time such a thing had happened at a Republican convention since the nomination of Grant in 1868 and 1872. He and his running mate will be committed to a platform that makes the issue in the campaign that of the American form of government against government of a queer and unnatural kind under the Stars and Stripes.

Enthusiasm Rings Out.

The platform, which contained an integral part, a simple restatement of the Bill of Rights from the Constitution of the United States, also was unanimously adopted.

That was the kind of a convention it was. Decisive. Enthusiastic. Courageous. Certain.

And it was colorful. There was the inspired fearlessness of the typical pioneers who crossed the plains to settle the typical prairie states in the telegram wherein Alf Landon laid his cards on the table for all to see BEFORE his nomination.

The youth and fire and uncompromising determination of the convention were characterized by the dogged, lifted chin of young, sorrel-topped John D. M. Hamilton, committeeman from Kansas, as he made Landon's nominating speech.

The convention's resolution of purpose, its undampened ardor for the traditions of American liberty against regimentation and bureaucratic dictatorship were part and parcel of the mighty ovation which for 30 minutes acclaimed the arrival of Herbert Hoover.

"For Three Long Years."

Proof that party enthusiasm was only whetted to a new high pitch by three years of Roosevelt was demonstrated in the stampede of the whole floor, under the leadership of a young and good-looking blonde woman who left the gallery to snatch a flag and march at the head of the parade which acclaimed the former President for an hour after his departure. He had told them that they were "a convention of Americans to determine the fate of those ideals for which this nation was founded." They showed him they were with him when he shouted for them to "stop retreat!"

Unconcealed contempt for anything New Dealish or Rooseveltian became the theme song of the convention. In the powerful keynote speech of the temporary chairman, Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, was born the chant that carried through the convention and is now being sung at Republican meetings everywhere—"Three Long Years!" to the tune of "Three Blind Mice!"

Senator Steiwer had quoted President Roosevelt's statement in a message to congress in 1933:

"For three long years the Federal government has been on the road toward bankruptcy. . . . Thus we have piled up an accumulated deficit of $5,000,000,000."

Steiwer Strikes a Chord.

Senator Steiwer pointed out that that was the accumulation of four years. Then he continued:

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, the deficit was approximately four billion dollars. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1935, it was in excess of three and a half billion dollars. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, and eliminating any requirement for the payment of the soldiers' bonus, the deficit is between three and a half and four billion dollars. For three long years the deficits have exceeded those which the President denounced. For three long years we have continued on the road toward bankruptcy. Instead of an accumulated deficit of five billion dollars in four years, we have a deficit of approximately eleven billion dollars in three years—but they are three very long years. During the same period the government spending has gone up. Listen to the astounding totals—for three long years: For the fiscal year 1933, approximately five billion dollars; for 1934, seven billion dollars; for 1935, seven billion four hundred million dollars; for 1936, seven billion six hundred million dollars, and the estimate of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, is in excess of eight and a quarter billion dollars. I ask this question—for how long a period has the Federal deficit exceeded that which the President denounced?"

The convention responded with a single, resounding voice.

"For three long years!"

"For how long a period has the federal spending been kept above the seven billion dollar line?"

The galleries caught up the chorus with the delegates:

"For three long years!"

"For how long have we lived under the evil trinity of increased deficit, increased debt and increased taxes?"

The band played the chords for the words this time.

"For three long years!"

Platform Takes It Up.

Right into the platform went the spirit of the chant:

"For three long years the New Deal administration has dishonored American traditions and flagrantly betrayed the pledges upon which the Democratic party sought and received public support."

"The powers of congress have been usurped by the President."

"The integrity and authority of the Supreme court have been flouted."

"The rights and liberties of American citizens have been violated."

"Regulated monopoly has displaced free enterprise."

"The New Deal administration constantly seeks to usurp the rights reserved to the states and to the people."

"It has insisted on the passage of laws contrary to the Constitution."

"It has intimidated witnesses and interfered with the right of petition."

"It has dishonored our country by repudiating its most sacred obligations."

"It has been guilty of frightful waste and extravagance, using public funds for partisan political purposes."

"It has promoted investigations to harass and intimidate American citizens, at the same time denying investigations into its own improper expenditures."

Raps Bureaucracy.

"It has created a vast multitude of new offices, filled them with its favorites, set up a centralized bureaucracy, and sent out swarms of inspectors to harass our people."

"It has bred fear and hesitation in commerce and industry, thus discouraging new enterprise, preventing employment and prolonging the depression."

"It secretly has made tariff agreements with our foreign competitors, flooding our markets with foreign commodities."

"It has coerced and intimidated voters by withholding relief to those opposing its tyrannical policies."

"It has destroyed the morale of many of our people and made them dependent upon government."

"Appeals to passion and class prejudice have replaced reason and tolerance."

"To a free people, these actions are insufferable. This campaign cannot be waged on the traditional differences between the Republican and Democratic parties. The responsibility of this election transcends all previous political divisions. We invite all Americans irrespective of party, to join us in defense of American institutions."

But on the final night of the convention it was another song that rang through Cleveland's auditorium—"Oh, Susannah!"—the campaign song of the Landon forces, who, earlier on that day had so demonstrated that the HANES governor was the choice of the people to defeat the New Deal, that all of the other candidates willingly released their delegates.

Hamilton Presents Landon.

Before Hamilton began the nominating speech he read a telegram from Governor Landon which went into the annals of political conventions as one of the most courageous pieces of forthrightness and honesty ever to be spoken by a candidate for nomination. Governor Landon wanted it understood before his name was presented that there were certain planks in the platform upon which he had placed interpretations which ought to be known.

He made it plain that, although the platform expressed belief that labor legislation with respect to minimum hours, maximum wages and working conditions could be "done within the Constitution as it now stands," he would, if it were necessary, support a constitutional amendment to accomplish such legislation.

He made it plain that while he agreed that "the first requisite to a sound and stable currency is a balanced budget" the second requisite "is a currency expressed in terms of gold and convertible into gold."

He was more definite than the platform in his ideas of restoring and expanding the merit system in the federal government. "In carrying out this pledge, I believe there should be included within the merit system every position in the administrative service below the rank of assistant secretaries of major departments and agencies, and that this inclusion should cover the entire post office department."

Applause Baffles Meter.

The applause which greeted the reading of the telegram was second only to that which followed Hamilton's presentation of Landon's name to the convention. The cheering at this point was even beyond the capacity of the huge noise meter above the stage to register.

Delegation after delegation leaped to its feet to begin the happy, hollering, whistling, singing, dancing band wagon parade for Alf Landon. Everywhere the banners "Win with Landon" and the posters with the governor's picture were raised. There were hundreds of them. In their enthusiasm, delegates climbed chairs, pummeled each other good naturedly and carried on generally with all the reckless abandon of a college crowd after a big football game. It was an hour before Hamilton could resume talking.

Hamilton dwelt upon the manner in which the forty-eight-year-old governor had administered the affairs of his state simply, efficiently, like a business man "who had had to meet the Saturday night payroll" would. He pointed out the difference between the Landon methods and the Roosevelt methods.

"Through three and one-half years we have heard much talk of emergency. Emergency has been advanced as an argument for the breaking of campaign pledges, for a reckless spending of public funds, for the creation of a bureaucracy, for the appointment of public officials for reasons of personal loyalty rather than merit, and for a bewildering succession of inconsistent and impracticable measures which have retarded recovery and created uncertainty."

Faced Roosevelt's Problems.

"Yet Gov. Landon was elected to his office at the same time that the New Deal administration was elected to power. He faced in his capacity as a state executive emergencies of the same kind that confronted the national executive. He faced also the same question of whether he should in that emergency break the pledges he had made in that campaign, or whether he should keep those pledges. The answers given by the new President and the new governor were different and they were in character. For, as we have seen from the public record of the two of them, their characters were different."

Landon for Unity.

Hamilton struck what proved to be the popular note when he declared:

"Behind Governor Landon, as standard bearer of the Republican party, will rally a united party, for he has a genius for creating unity. Behind Governor Landon will rally that great group of citizens, without regard to party label, who wish to see performance and not propaganda, confidence and not confusion. Behind Governor Landon, carrying the standard of young America, will rally that great section of the people who wish to repudiate the alien philosophies and outworn theories, and who, without regard to their own age, are young enough to have faith that we can build a greater country by carrying forward the dynamic American doctrines of hope, of tolerance, and of effort."

After the nomination had been seconded by Delegates Gasper C. Bacon of Massachusetts, Gov. Frank Fitzgerald of Michigan, Mrs. Corinne S. Alsop of Connecticut (a cousin of President Roosevelt), Perry Howard of Mississippi, Henry Depping of Missouri, Mrs. Janet Tourtelotte of Washington, Charles M. Day of South Dakota, and Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms of New Mexico, the other candidates came to the stage to announce that they would throw every ounce of support at their command to the election of Landon in November.

These candidates who sacrificed their ambitions for the good of the party and the nation were Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan; Frank Knox of Illinois, the Chicago newspaper publisher who was nominated for Vice President the next morning, receiving a unanimous roll call vote; Sen. L. J. Dickinson of Iowa; Gov. Harry Nice of Maryland; Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

CHEVROLET MAKING HISTORY.

Chevrolet dealers rounded out the greatest three months in the history of the Chevrolet Motor Company by delivering 129,816 new cars and trucks in May, W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager, announced Tuesday. May sales were the highest on record, exceeding those for the highest previous May, that of 1928, by 7,379 units.

The company's sales in April established a new all-time high for any month of any year, and the totals for March and for May approached that high point so closely as to concentrate within the past 90 days all three of Chevrolet's biggest months. Total sales for that period were 389,556 units, bringing the total for the year to date, from Jan. 1, to 535,634.

May used car sales by Chevrolet dealers set an all-time high of 229,223 units, Mr. Holler announced, resulting in a substantial decline in the stocks on hand, and contributing to the outlook for heavy new unit volume in June.

THE NEW IDEA OF CANCER

Many Cases Can Be Cured if Reported Promptly.

Bulletin No. 5
American Society for the Control of Cancer, 1250 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

IS CANCER CONTAGIOUS?

In spite of the fact that physicians and nurses have come into intimate contact with cancer patients for many years and have taken no precautions against infecting themselves, there is no recorded instance of one case of cancer giving rise to another.

This is not to say that microbes are never found in cancers. Cancer microbes as infecting wounds of any kind and the unpleasant odors which are sometimes associated with cancer are due to those accidental contaminations. Consequently, the precautions to be taken by those who come in contact with cancer patients are only such as should be followed with infected wounds.

Discoveries are announced from time to time that bacteria have been identified with cancer but upon further and impartial investigation it is always found that these parasites are connected with the accompanying infection and are not the producers of the malignant condition.

There is no occasion to shut a person who has cancer, so far as danger of contracting the disease is concerned. The victims need all the sympathy and tenderness which can be shown them. Fear that cancer was contagious has sometimes led to unnecessary and uncharitable action toward the sick.

The Time to Cure Cancer is When It Is Beginning.

If you think you have any of the symptoms described in these articles you should be examined by your doctor or at a hospital at once.

MISS DECKER HONORED.
Miss Adele Decker, the bride-elect of John Martin Finger Jr., had as her compliment Wednesday afternoon a large and smartly appointed tea and miscellaneous shower from 4 to 7 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. H. Smith, with Mesdames Smith, T. B. Knopp, O. H. Miller, R. J. Noonan and A. G. Bless as hostesses. Pink, yellow and white dahlias were lavishly used in the reception suite, and blue and pink tapers in silver holders lighted the beautiful scene. Receiving in the drawing room were Mrs. Smith, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. R. J. Decker, and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. J. M. Finger. Sr. Miss Charlotte Miller, was in charge of the bride's book.
The gifts of china, crystal, silver and linen were attractively arranged and were in charge of Mrs. A. G. Bless and Miss Jonell Rothe.
The music room was most inviting with its decorations of white daisies and pink roses. In this lovely setting during the receiving hours, Misses Evelyn and Margaret Ann Knopp entertained with piano and violin selections, and Miss Mary Emma Finger, soprano, and Jimmie Smith, baritone, sang for the enjoyment of the guests. The Misses Knopp accompanied them.
In the dining room the refreshment board, overlaid with a handsome lace banquet cloth, was graced by white Shasta daisies and pink radianse roses in a crystal bowl, and lighted by yellow candles in crystal holders. Alternating in serving the tea dainties, consisting of chicken sandwiches, spiced tea, mint roses, and cake squares frosted in pastel colors and embossed with spun sugar roses, were Mrs. Noonan, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Knopp. Assisting were Misses Mary Ann Noonan and Norma Jane Bless.
A large personnel called during the receiving hours.
Miss Decker was a picture of great charm in a pink net gown cut princess, the skirt flaring into a slight train. A distinctive touch were cartwheels of ruffled net which covered the lower part of the skirt and also formed the short puffed sleeves and outlined the bodice. The high waist was girdled with a sash of blue velvet. She wore a fillet of pink rosebuds in her hair and her corsage was also of pink rosebuds.
Mrs. Smith was handsome in a white lace hostess gown, with a corsage of white fever-few and pink rosebuds. Mrs. Decker was similarly costumed in white lace with a jacquette of lace. Contrast was given by her corsage of salmon pink gladiolas. Mrs. Finger wore orchid lace with a corsage of purple and yellow pansies.
Mrs. Bless' frock was of shell pink embroidered organza, and her corsage was pink camellias. Mrs. Noonan's yellow lace gown was made with a short-sleeved jacket and her corsage was of yellow gladiolas. Mrs. Miller's yellow chiffon dress had for adornment a cluster of saffron-colored summer blossoms and Mrs. Knopp wore with her pink embroidered organza frock a pink gladiola corsage.

SHOWER HONORS BRIDE.
One of the most beautiful events of the month was the miscellaneous shower given, on Centennial lines, in honor of a recent bride, Mrs. Jack Dennis, formerly Miss Alice Neumann. The event took place on Flag Day, June 14th, at the home of her sister, Mrs. John Krenmueller. Hostesses were Mrs. Clarence Neumann, Mrs. John Krenmueller and Miss Irene Neumann.
The stage was set for a Centennial celebration. Streamers of red, white and blue formed canopies in both living and dining rooms. American flags were draped in the center of the canopies. The chair of honor, which was decorated with the chosen colors, was placed in the living room beside a miniature Alamo, where the gifts were concealed. A lone star, a Texas and an American flag adorned the Alamo. A bowl of red, white and blue cut flowers was standing by the bride's book, the latter having a sketch of the Alamo done in blue and white silhouette and placed on a red binding.
To the processional, "The Eyes of Texas", the honoree, modestly attired in a white linen sport dress with trappings of Irish crochet lace and wearing a corsage of red, white and blue flowers, was escorted to her chair by little Miss Billie Ray Neumann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Neumann of San Antonio. Billie Ray was dressed to resemble a blue bonnet and she carried a tiny bouquet of blue bonnets and forget-me-nots.
After the bride was seated, Misses Nora and Annie Brucks charmingly sang "Beautiful Texas". Miss Lenora Mann gave the toast:
Here's to the bride, long may she reign
As Queen of Love in hubby's heart;
May she enjoy much happiness,
And may it ne'er from her depart.
Here's to her health, here's to her wealth,
Long may they live, progress and bloom,
And may Content be ever hers
To chase the evil spirit, Gloom.
Here's to the home, where she'll abide,
May it a pleasant dwelling be,
With all that Comfort can supply
To fill it full of harmony.
The gifts were then presented to the bride, who passed them on for the guests to inspect and admire. She was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts and she thanked everyone for their thoughtfulness.
Refreshments consisting of chicken sandwiches, devil's food cake, and iced tea were served to about forty guests. Tiny American flags were the plate favors.
Remember you can get FARMING and this paper both for a year each or only $1.75.

Mrs. O. B. Taylor was hostess to the Thursday Bridge Club and several guests last Thursday afternoon, entertaining with four tables of contract. Those present were Mesdames L. J. Brucks, O. H. Miller, W. H. Smith, T. B. Knopp, John Finger, F. H. Schweers, Garland Martin, Louis Grube, Joe Wilson, Rudy Rath, Alfred Schweers, R. W. Speece, Robert Kollman, Ed. Cameron, and Miss Thelma Wilson. Mrs. O. H. Miller won club high prize, and Mrs. John Finger second high. Mrs. F. H. Schweers was high score winner for guests and Miss Thelma Wilson was second high. The hostess served refreshments of molded fruit salad, jelly roll, saltines and iced tea.
VETERANS GET THEIR BONDS.
The postoffice was a busy place the first of the week when, with just the regular force, 78 bonus applicants were served. The veterans were issued bonds in the amount due them as their service compensation. These amounts varied in accordance with the classification, length of service, etc., of the veteran, but is estimated to average about $600.00 each.
Those desiring to cash their bonds sent them to Austin from which place checks will be mailed to the holder of the bond. Some few will keep the bonds as an investment, but most of them will be cashed.

HOW MUCH IS $12,000,000,000?
One way to get an idea of the vastness of a billion dollars would be to start counting to that figure, a dollar at a time. But don't begin the job unless you've got a couple of decades with nothing else to do.
According to an article in the Los Angeles Times, it would take a man a week to count from 1 to 1,000,000, working fairly steady. If he continued to count at the same rate, he would reach 1,000,000,000 in just nineteen years and three months. And to count to 12,000,000,000 would require something over 218 years!
Well, $12,000,000,000 is the sum that the American people must fork out every year in taxes—and if some of our lawmakers have their way, it's going to be substantially raised in the future. We pay twice as much for taxes as we do for clothing, eighteen times as much for taxes as for domestic light and power—$500,000,000 more for taxes than for food. The tax item dwarfs all the other items in the family budget.
Twelve billion dollars is more than you would spend if you had a lifetime of nineteen hundred years—and spent $10.00 every minute! And government is putting out that sum every year, with increases just over the horizon!—Industrial News Review.

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

© Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.

A good many thousand people have lately returned from European lands. Some of them know what they wanted to see when they got there and saw it.

Travel

They got something useful and unforgettable out of their trips.

The majority of them went there chiefly for the purpose of showing their neighbors that they could afford it.

They would have learned a great deal more if they had stayed at home and looked at the local scenery.

Darwin's idea of a place worth seeing was the extreme or almost the extreme tip of the South American continent.

He wrote a book about his travels which you will do well to read if you haven't read it already.

Marco Polo, perhaps the first explorer, learned more in a few years about the fun and interest to be got out of traveling than his fellows had got in all their life-times.

A thirst for travel springs from a thirst for knowledge, and that is a thirst for education and enlightenment.

Fabre, observing the actions and habits of spiders in his little back yard, and Maeterlinck, making similar studies of bees, gave the world something to think about and ponder on for the rest of its life. Yet neither of them in gaining their special knowledge needed to move from their homes.

I think that in some future time, which may not be far off, college professors will take the young men and women under their charge to distant lands and distant places, or even to spots close to home and deliver lectures on the way.

A very great writer said that "Home-keeping youths have ever homely wits."

By home-keeping he meant remaining "local boys" who only see the interesting manifestations of life and Nature, and learn nothing about them.

If you cannot travel in person, travel by means of books, or by listening to those who have seen the world with the definite purpose of learning all that one can learn about it.

Interest and excitement help to mold life for the better.

Get all you can of both. Never let your wonder lag.

We are just beginning to learn what we ought to know about this planet of ours.

Instruction is now definite and systematized.

Make the most of it, and you will be making the most of life.

You can, of course, learn from your own mistakes.

But to do that you must admit to yourself that they are mistakes.

For the average man that is difficult. Nobody wants to admit that he is in the wrong—even to himself.

The best way to make progress is to learn from the mistakes of other people.

That will open to you a wide and fertile field.

In the old days of rough and ready doctoring, it was said that many physicians buried their mistakes, and therefore never got any blame for them.

But that was in another time, when even the practice of medicine was on the cut and try system.

Today most doctors know their business. They must or they rapidly cease to have any practice.

As soon as a doctor finds it possible to leave his practice for a short time, he heads straight for one of the great medical colleges or medical centers, and brushes up on his business.

The result is that many more sick people are brought back to health, and many more well people continue well, because their doctors tell them how to take care of themselves.

Naturally the practice of medicine has gone ahead of most other professions.

The most important thing to every man or woman is life. And if their lives are endangered or made a burden to them by illness they at once turn for help to the men whose trade it is to keep people well.

But let me get back to my topic.

When somebody you know—somebody who ought to have succeeded—has failed in his business or his profession, try to find out why.

If he is fairly intelligent, as I take it that your friends are, there must be some reason for his failure.

Dig that reason out, if you can.

Learn where and why he committed mistakes.

Then overhaul your own mental machinery, and see whether or not you are taking the same road.

That will involve a little thinking, but thinking, as far as I know, has never injured anybody.

Life with all its activities is constantly going on around you.

Make careful use of it, note the rise or fall of men around you.

Then when you are put to some crucial test, you will know how to take the right course.

TALL TALES

The Return of Petey

A CARRIER pigeon can be relied on to do the spectacular.

Glenn Butcher, doughboy of the Sixth Infantry, after serving his country in France, established a pigeon farm near Lockport, Ill. Liking all pigeons, his greatest affection was reserved for a carrier named Petey, recognized as a prize performer.

Petey demonstrated once that Butcher's love was reciprocated. It was when an unidentified fiend visited Lockport, committed a score of crimes and concluded by stealing Petey and taking him to Chicago. They fled overland although the two cities are connected by a riverway.

Butcher learned later the thief climbed to the top of the tallest building in Chicago, unfasted Petey and threw him overboard. Then, to show his fiendish nature, the kidnaper threw a wooden box at the falling bird.

The pigeon broke a leg in his 600-foot fall but retrieved the box, which landed nearby, and hobbled toward the river. There he produced a swag stick Butcher had used in France, climbed on the box and, steering a winding course by means of the stick, set out for Lockport.

Bulletins told of the pigeon navigator's progress, but Petey was too proud to accept aid. He negotiated the 45 miles of river channel alone in seven days, limping into Butcher's yard one morning, swagger stick under his wing. It not only gave him a jaunty appearance but served for a crutch as well.

An 8-Inch Tale

SHELL games are not the only activity wherein the hand may be quicker than the eye.

So ruminates Buck Pyle, once of Clarendon, Texas, when he recalls the famous hunting trip undertaken by two of his father's ranch hands.

The cowboys, Sam and Henry, found buffalo tracks almost immediately. They spied two buffalo, and each fired at a different animal.

Henry's buffalo sped over a mountain range with Henry in close pursuit and was lost to view. Sam wounded his game and the injured buffalo charged. Now it happened that Sam's pony wheeled suddenly, slipped in the deep grass and unseated the rider.

Sam rose to a sitting position, terrified at the approach of the huge animal. He ducked just as the charging buffalo hurtled past, then he straightened suddenly, grasped the wounded buffalo by the tail and hung on.

He could not hope to subdue the maddened beast, but neither could the animal attack him. So Sam clung to the buffalo's eight-inch tail until just before the wild runner crossed the Mexican boundary. Then he reached out with a poplar tree he'd gathered en route, tickled the buffalo's nose and turned him back into Texas.

When Sam had guided the buffalo in this fashion until they reached Donley county, Henry rode up with reinforcements and rescued his friend.

The regrettable effect of the incident, says Pyle, is that Sam won't accept a buffalo nickel in change now, even if you offer him three for a dime.

The Extended Palm

A GREATER number of extended palms can be found in the state of Florida than in all of France.

One of them, a royal palm, grows in front of the ninth green of the De Leon Springs golf course, its suppliantly-spreading foliage frequently catching balls pitched toward the green.

That happened to John H. Fisher of Chicago the first time he stepped on the De Leon Springs links to try for his usual 76. The ball lodged in the tree and only the gift of a 59-cent dollar persuaded his colored caddy to become a retriever.

Climbing to the top of the tree the caddy gave one vigorous shake and Fisher's ball and 376 other golf balls dropped. It was the first time the royal palm had been shaken.

The golfer was astonished to discover that thirteen of the balls had his name, "John H. Fisher," printed on them.

"It was my initial visit to Florida, all right, but that was no reason my entire name should have been printed on the balls," Fisher said later. "I didn't discover why until four months afterwards in Chicago."

"I play the Tam o'Shanter course at Chicago. On the fifth tee I invariably slice my drive, frequently losing the ball. Well, I began to analyze my shots off that tee, employing a compass and other research equipment."

"And I discovered a most interesting thing—every one of my sliced shots off that fifth tee moved in a curving line directly toward De Leon Springs from Chicago."

The Rattler's Years

Biologists do not believe a lot of the notions about rattlesnakes. They say a rattler's years are not the same as the number of rings he has accumulated on his shaker. Normally one ring is added every time the skin is shed, and this is usually three times a year. But not all these snakes are alike in shedding. Some shed twice a year and some as many as four times.

STAR DUST

Movie • Radio

***By VIRGINIA VALE***

THERE'S nothing like keeping your business all in the family! Gene Markey wrote a scenario, "By the Dawn's Early Light," (and can't you see that title being shortened so that it will fit theater marquees?) and RKO has bought it for his wife, Joan Bennett, which is nice as he wrote it especially for her. Fred Stone will be the other star. It sounds pretty exciting. Stone will play an American consul stationed in China. Joan will be his daughter, and a revolution will furnish the drama. Joan is making a picture in England now, and is eager to get home and begin work in her husband's story.

It rather startled everyone to have Myrna Loy and Arthur Hornblow getting their romantic affairs straightened out at last; there have been rumors of a matrimonial nature about them for a long time. Hornblow and his wife, the lovely Juliet Crosby, had separated, but he had been opposed to a divorce. (Meanwhile Hollywood gossips were rushing about, saying that it was just too dreadful that his wife wouldn't divorce him so that he and Myrna could be married!) Eventually Mrs. Hornblow went to Reno, and after that it was plain sailing.

Myrna Loy

Don't refer to Buster Crabbe as Buster any more; he doesn't like it. He got the studio to let him be Larry Crabbe, but they insisted on putting "Buster" in the middle, and now he's known by all three names. He's working in "The Arizona Raiders" for Paramount, with Marsha Hunt.

Warner Brothers and Paul White-man have joined forces in an effort to discover talented children. Children from all over the country will appear with Whiteman on his radio broadcasts each week, and be given tests at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studio.

Warner Brothers will also make a series of shorts, the casts to be composed entirely of children. And of course any children who make the grade will be under contract to Warner Brothers.

While we're on the subject of children, the settlement of the squabble over little Freddie Bartholomew is good news. Apparently he didn't want to leave his beloved aunt, who had done so much to develop his talent and taken such good care of him, yet naturally his mother couldn't be denied her rights. His aunt said recently that she was disturbed over the effect the whole thing had had on him; he forgot his lines when he was working, a thing he had never done before, and had told her that, if he was taken away from her, he'd run away and keep running away until he got back to her.

The Yacht Club Boys, whom you've heard on the air and seen on the screen, have been asked by both the Republican and Democratic national committees to write their campaign songs. Judging by some of the songs that the Yacht Club Boys write for themselves, it seems to me that that request is a bit dangerous!

Irene Dunne has been having a grand time in New York. She and her husband were guests the other evening at a small dinner party at which the eldest son of the former king of Spain was also present.

The Four Hundred of New York long since took the lovely Irene to its heart, but she is still the same sweet, unspooled girl that she has always been. The prize for the most "regular" person in pictures certainly ought to go to her.

Mitchell Lelsen, Paramount director, could take bows if he wanted to over persuading the great Stokowski to break into the movies. The famous conductor will appear in "The Big Broadcast of 1937," along with a couple of jazz bands—but not all playing at the same time!

ODDS AND ENDS . . . You'll want to see Edward G. Robinson in "Bullets or Ballots"; this time he's against the gangsters instead of being one of them . . . Robert Taylor broke down the other day and confessed that his real name is Spangler Arlington Brough . . . Merle Oberon and David Niven would like to get married, but their contracts forbid it . . . Kay Francis wanted to take a vacation in the Far East, but she has to stay home and make another picture, "Mistress of Fashion" . . . W. C. Fields is improving in health and will be ready to make another picture soon . . . An independent movie producer is trying to get Emperor Haile Selassie to come to Hollywood and make a picture . . . In Australia the censors cut the burial sequence of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine"—and mangled the plot.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Albert Payson Terhune, who used to be a newspaper man himself, recently had a road named after him. It's a mile and a half long and runs from Gaylord to Pompton over in New Jersey. In so doing, it passes Sunnybank. That's where Mr. Terhune, except for a brief mid-winter period when he moves to his Riverside Drive apartment for an opera and show-going spree, does his writing about dogs. He began writing about dogs many years ago when he was still a reporter on the World along with Irvin S. Cobb and others who too have achieved fame. Years ago, George Horace Lorimer asked him to quit writing about dogs because every time he published a Terhune dog story he got about 2,000 manuscripts about dogs. Mr. Terhune kept right on, however, turning out both dog stories and dog novels. His twelfth book about dogs, "The Critter," was published a short time ago.

Mr. Terhune inherited his love of dogs from his father who was a clergyman and who in his early years taught him to train and care for dogs. His collies are known over the world. Collies are his constant companions. He likes to work out under the trees with an old olive drab flannel shirt and khaki breeches as his attire. His dogs watch over him and often interrupt him. Should a human being interrupt it would take him a lot of time to get back into his story so Mrs. Terhune shields him as much as she can. With dogs, it's different. He pats them on the head or even chats with them and goes right on writing when they leave. His mother (Marion Harland) was a writer. His wife is a writer. More than 75 years ago, his mother and father drove by the land which is now Sunnybank and liked it so much that they arranged for the purchase of it an hour later. The original house still stands.

A new form of petty larceny is being practiced by a resourceful individual in Grand Central Terminal and probably, also, in Pennsylvania station. He dresses well and approaches some other well dressed man, probably hurrying to business, and remarks apologetically, "Excuse me, but I forgot my wallet. Could you lend me a dollar until tomorrow?" To show his good faith he hands over a card with name and address and suggests that the loaner give him a card so he can return the dollar. Since it is a plausible proposition, the one approached usually falls. At the end of two or three days, he calls up the man whose name is on the card and asks about the dollar. Whereupon the one called becomes angry and insists there's a dollar coming to him. The explanation of course is that the swindler gives the card he receives from one victim to the next one.

Junius Wood, the well-known correspondent who represented the Chicago Daily News in Germany for several years, was instructed by his editor to limit his cable file to a quota of so many words a month. Shortly after he'd received those orders, the Nazi purge started. That, of course, was a big story. Wood wrote until he had exhausted the allotted number of words and then added: "End of quota. More next month." That naturally got a tremendous rise out of his superiors and resulted in an immediate abolishment of word restrictions.

One of the developments of the times is the "bridge bum." He's a man who frequents the various clubs that operate here and there both afternoon and evening. If he is extraordinarily lucky, he may make two tops in one day. That means prize money of about $10, which of course must be split with his partner. All clubs have such regulars. A number of them have wives and families and though they have no other source of income, seem to get by somehow.

Bus top eavesdropping: "She'd do a lot better with the boy friend if she didn't try to cry him out of a diamond when she's got mascara on."

Business being what it is, says Vic Erwin, it helps to know that one can find Coin in Iowa; Monie in Illinois, Long Cash in South Dakota and Texas, Long Green in Maryland, Liberty Bond in Washington and Dividend in Utah. Moreover, there is a Boon in Michigan and Prosperity in six different states. But alas, there is bitter with the sweet, since one can find Hard Times in Louisiana, Poverty in Kentucky and Panic in Pennsylvania. And so, I'm calling it a day.

He Got It on the Re-bound: Benny Fields, who, after being kicked around more than a little, finally clicked on Broadway with the result that he is surrounded with those eager to congratulate him on having attained the heights. "What's this story about me throwing you out of my office a year ago?" asked one of the back slappers. "It's a lie," returned Fields quickly. "A year ago you wouldn't let me into your office."

The confidence people have in Black-Draught, built up from satisfactory use so many years, is shown in its being handed on from one generation to another. It must be good to have such a strong following.

"We have used Black-Draught for twenty years," writes Mr. Fred Richardson, of Bartlesville, Okla. "My mother has used it for fifty years. It is the best medicine I know anything about. I take it for my stomach and constipation, or when I feel sluggish and bad. Black-Draught is splendid to regulate the bowels, cleansing them of waste matter, ridding them of constipation. I expect to use it twenty-five years more if I live and it gives satisfaction as it has always given."

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.—

This month, being engaged in the somewhat responsible task of filling the most important office in the world, the accredited representatives of two great parties will discharge these duties by acting as though, shortly before they were born, their respective mothers had been horribly frightened by an intoxicated toedancer.

At Cleveland, if the delegates for Zookus fail to behave like howling dervishes for at least forty minutes following the mention of his name, they're traitors to a sacred trust. And if the delegates for Gookus don't carry on longer and louder and crazier than the Zookus bunch did, they'll never again dare lift their shamed heads.

The setup will be different at Philadelphia, the cradle of liberty, although occupied at times by some funny foundlings. There, when the chosen mouthpiece offers a candidate whose second nomination has been certain ever since his first nomination, every patriot on the floor must be thrown by the astounding shock into a happy delirium, lasting until his legs give out, his larynx splits and he can't think of any more hysteria symptoms.

The Seattle Lochinvar.

LATEST news from the hospital is that America's boy-sweetheart—the young Lochinvar out of Seattle—is suffering from overwork. A large number of traffic cops around Washington are reported to be in the same fix. The barkeepers haven't sent in their casualty list yet.

One of the big circuses is certainly overlooking a gorgeous chance. Think of the sensation—alone in a steel-barred arena—Clyde Beatty with Zion-check.

Black Masked Bigots.

INTO a sour soup-stock of religious and racial hatred, stir a mess of high-sounding titles, blood-curdling oaths and foolish regalities, and you've got a mixture with an irresistible appeal to parties whose average hat size is six and an eighth and whose souls are aslosh in the bilge-water of bigotry. Presently they're adding miscellaneous murder to their mummery, as in Michigan, where sundry gallant heroes seem about due to suffer prolonged attacks of short-haired pale-ness, which is a disease brought on by wearing a close hair-cut behind some high stone walls.

They say such organized intolerance-epidemics come in waves, but did you ever notice that we never have any of these waves when America is at war? Then nobody objects to putting Catholics or Jews or negroes in the firing line. Nobody questions their patriotism or their fitness to defend the nation's flag, and, after awhile, peace comes, and all of a sudden a lot of folks discover that those of certain creeds and a certain color are unworthy to be classed as citizens or even as human beings.

RECENTLY in outlining the political high spots scheduled for the next four weeks, the writer failed to mention the Liberty League.

The Liberty League will not hold a convention, but will have tea on the Du Pont lawn. There may be speeches and perhaps a snappy prayer by the rector of the Church of SS. Midas and Croesus, but Al Smith will positively not speak, having already learned the bitter lesson that a fellow can pick an awfully bad spot to make an awfully good speech in.

And as for trying to keep a brown derby and a silk topper alternately bouncing off a single dome—well, in the future, I predict, he'll leave that sort of thing to professional jugglers. Even so, Al Smith is better qualified than some for wearing two hats at once, having at least twice as many brains as you'd find under the average politician's headpiece.

Sacrifices to Science.

I LOVE dogs and admire them for traits which so many human beings lack. So, because some of us joined a movement to save impounded and tortured from possible mutilation and torture at the hands of unauthorized agencies and guarantee for them a swift merciful death a large number of folks seem to think we're vivisectionists.

For one, I'm against weird experiment upon dumb brutes in the often abused name of science. When I read that some gifted exhibitionist swapped the vital organs of a pelican and a hound pup, so that the pelican went out in the back yard and barked himself to death at the moon and the pup choked trying to carry half a bushel of fish in his lower jaw, I fail to see where the cause of medicine has been advanced. But since the war on disease demands the sacrifice of certain creatures that mankind may be benefited, I'd rather that every white rat in America should have the bubonic plague twice than that my grandbabies should have it once.

Lesson for June 21

JESUS EXALTED

LESSON TEXT—Luke 24:36-53.
GOLDEN TEXT—Wherefore God also hath highly exalted him, and given him a name which is above every name.—Philippians 2:9.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Goes Home to Heaven.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Goes Home to Heaven.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Lord We Worship.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Exalted Christ and the Unfinished Task.

In order properly to view the ascension of Christ into heaven, it would be well to study his ministry during the forty days prior to his ascension.

I. The Walk of the Two Discouraged Disciples (vv. 13-15).

Emmaus was seven and a half miles northwest of Jerusalem. Just why these disciples were walking this way we do not surely know. Perhaps their home was there. Or they were merely walking to seek relief from their stunning sorrow. If they had believed what Jesus had told them about his death and resurrection, they would have escaped this great disappointment. Unbelief causes many heartaches and disappointments. The topic of conversation was the tragedy of the cross and the resurrection rumors. So little had his teaching about the resurrection impressed the disciples that the reports which the women brought were as idle tales to them.

II. The Unrecognized Companion (vv. 16-24).

1. Who he was (v. 15). While they reasoned together on the wonderful events of the last few days, Jesus joined them. When he questioned them concerning their sadness they did not recognize him. How often we are so engrossed with our sorrows and disappointments that we fail to recognize Jesus, even though he is walking by our side.

2. His question (v. 17). Perceiving their sadness and perplexities, he sought to help by calling forth a statement of their grief.

3. Their answer (v. 18). His questions so surprised them that they jumped to the conclusion that he was a stranger in Jerusalem. The condemnation and crucifixion of the great prophet of Nazareth were so recent and notorious that no one who had lived in Jerusalem could be ignorant of them.

III. The Scriptures Opened (vv. 25-31).

1. His rebuke (vv. 25-30). He did not rebuke them for not believing the strange stories that they had heard, but for ignorance and lack of confidence in the Old Testament Scriptures. They had only accepted such parts of the Old Testament as suited their notions. The very center and heart of the Old Testament Scriptures set forth the death and resurrection of Christ. Ignorance of the Scriptures and unbelief as to the wonders and complete redemption wrought by Christ robs us of many joys and deprives us of power as workers for Christ.

2. Jesus Recognized (vv. 31-35). While sitting at meat with the disciples, their eyes were opened as they saw him bless the bread and distribute it to them. We too can see the Lord on such common occasions as eating a meal if we have open eyes. Indeed, we ought to see him when eating, buying, selling, and in our recreations, for he has promised his abiding presence. They were so filled with joy over this revelation of the Savior that they hastened back to Jerusalem to tell the other disciples of his resurrection.

IV. Jesus Stands in the Midst of the Eleven (vv. 36-47).

1. He said, "Peace be unto you" (vv. 36, 37).

However, they were terrified and afrighted. Sinful man in the presence of a holy God is ill at ease.

2. He showed them his hands and his feet (vv. 38-40). In order to convince them of his personal identity, he gave them tangible evidence that he was not a mere spirit.

3. He ate before them (vv. 41-45).

4. He commissioned them to evangelize the world (vv. 46-49). They were to testify concerning his shed blood and resurrection, and on this ground they were to preach repentance and remission of sins to all nations.

5. Jesus ascends into heaven (vv. 50-53).

Having given them the parting message to evangelize the world he ascended into heaven. From his place in heaven he continues to carry on his work through his disciples as they are energized by the Holy Ghost. Just as we treasure the last words of our departed loved ones so we should ponder this farewell message of our Lord.

Magnet of Thankfulness

The unthankful heart, like my finger in the sand, discovers no mercies; but let the thankful heart sweep through the day, and as the magnet finds the iron, so will it find in every hour some heavenly blessings, only the iron in God's sand is gold.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Growth to Perfection

Bedspreads Welcome Delicate Lilac Motif

PATTERN 1152

Dark and light lilacs, tied with a flourish into the loveliest of floral sprays, is far and away the nicest—and easiest—flowery touch one can give a bedroom. Even an amateur will find the large spray easy to embroider on a bedspread with four smaller sprays on the bolster, or scarf ends. The flowers are entirely formed of lazy-daisy stitch and French knots, the leaves of blanket stitch—the rest is in outline. With cotton or rayon floss the designs are seemingly done in no time, in shades of lilac, orchid, or palest yellow.

Pattern 1152 comes to you with a transfer pattern of a motif 18 by 21 inches and two reverse motifs 4 by 5½ inches. Color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches needed; material requirements.

Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Ave., New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

New Way to MEASURE OIL VALUE

After you drain and refill your crankcase, how far do you go before you have to add the first quart? If you don't know, it's worth checking. This simple test gives you the real measure of oil economy and of oil quality, too. Because the oil that stands up best between refills is giving your motor the best lubrication. Try the "First Quart" Test with Quaker State. See if you don't go farther than you ever did with any other oil under similar driving conditions. Quaker State Oil Refining Company, Oil City, Pa.

OBITUARY.

The remains of Mrs. Mary Wyatt were brought from Del Rio last Saturday to the home of her sister, Mrs. Ed Finger of D'Hanis, where she is surrounded by many relatives and friends.

Mary Katherine Feitig was born at Castroville on January 4, 1883, and had therefore completed 53 years of life. Later she made her home at D'Hanis, and was married here in May, 1903, to Thomas E. Wyatt. She had been a resident of Sabinal during almost all of her married life. Following a recent surgical operation, she gradually lost strength and passed away at Williams Sanitarium, Del Rio, Friday evening, June 12, 1936, at 7 o'clock.

Deceased is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Sara Graham of Del Rio, three grandsons, and two sisters, Mrs. Fanny Finger of D'Hanis and Mrs. Maggie Gerdes of Hondo.

Reverend Taillon, O. M. I., conducted services in Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Del Rio on Saturday morning, and on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, funeral services were held in Holy Cross Church here with Reverend E. Zuber officiating. Pallbearers were A. J. Boog, A. H. Finger, Wilfred, Herman, Clarence, and Marshall Fohn.

Many beautiful floral offerings covered the grave, which was surrounded by friends and relatives from far and near.

KITCHEN SHOWER.

Miss Marcella Ney and her fiancé, Charles Langfeld, were honored for an attractive surprise kitchen shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Rothe on the eve of their wedding, following the rehearsal. The hostesses were Misses Laurinda Rothe and Irene Poerner, who were members of the bridal party.

A color scheme of green and white was chosen for all appointments. Several games of bridge, rook, and high five were enjoyed, the tallies being green and shaped like tea pots and cups. Prizes were won by Mrs. Raymond Finger, Mrs. Thomas Grimsinger, Miss Lucy Rothe and Francis Carle.

Refreshments were sandwiches, macaroons, and lime punch, while favors were clothes pins with little trophy fortunes attached to them.

Many useful kitchen articles were presented to the honorees.

The guest list included:

Messrs. and Mesdames Allen Koch, Herman Ney, Raymond Finger, Thomas Grimsinger, James Finger, Henry Biry, Arthur Raney, Charles Rohrbach, Guenther Koch and M. T. Schuchart, Misses Tina, Josie, Lucy, Sarah, Ethel, and Annette Rothe, Cornelia and Sarah Koch, Armine and Lillian Fohn, Verine and Stella Finger, Grace and Lorine Zinsmeyer, Lena Reinhardt, Carrie Langfeld, Leona Poerner, Irene Carle, Alice Rohrbach, and Geraldine Haegelin; and Messrs. Martin Ney, Hilmar J. Koch, Amos, Joe, and Edward Finger, Wilfred and Herman Fohn, Francis Carle, Howard Rothe, and Robert Zuberbuehler.

LANGFELD-NEY.

A pretty June wedding was that of Miss Marcella Ney and Charles B. Langfeld at 8 A. M. Tuesday the 16th, in Holy Cross Church, with Reverend E. Zuber officiating and reading the Nuptial Mass. The altar, aisle, and sanctuary were decorated with daisies, zinnias, and fern in baskets and vases.

While Miss Josie Rothe played the Wedding March from "Lohengrin" on the pipe organ, the members of the bridal party entered in the following order: Miss Irene Poerner, bridesmaid, with Herman Fohn, groomsmen; the maid of honor, Miss Laurinda Rothe, in a two-piece dress of aqua crepe, like Miss Poerner's of peach crepe. Both wore leghorn hats and shoulder bouquets of shasta daisies. Jerry Raney was the ring-bearer, while the little flower girls, Beatrice and Joanne Ney, in long organdy frocks of pink and yellow respectively, immediately preceded the bride. Given in marriage by her brother, Herman Ney, the bride wore a lovely in a tunic frock of white matisse crepe with sash and kerchief of navy and white print. It had a row of buttons and long pleated-atop sleeves. She wore a shoulder bouquet of white carnations, and shoes and felt hat of navy and white. She was met at the sanctuary gate by the groom and his best man, Martin Ney.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride. The wedding cake was a pink and white confection topped with a miniature bride-and-groom ornament, and was flanked by bouquets of daisies and zinnias.

Mr. and Mrs. Langfeld left later in the afternoon for a brief wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a two-piece suit of navy crepe, the waist of which was of checked taffeta. Her accessories were navy and white.

The bride is the younger daughter of Mrs. Joe J. Ney and a graduate of D'Hanis High School. The groom is the only son of Mrs. Joe Langfeld, and a graduate of Hondo High School. They will make their home here.

Out-of-town guests at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schreiber, Mrs. Allen Koch and sons, and Mrs. Harry Boggs of San Antonio; Mrs. Frank Jackson and daughter, Marnell, of Lytle; Mrs. R. J. Zerr and children of Hondo; and Miss Dorothy Zerr of Dallas.

ANCIENTLY DEFINED.

In the Farmers' Almanack for 1823, published at Andover, Mass., the following was printed under the heading, "Character of a Freemason":

"The real Freemason is distinguished from the rest of mankind by the uniform unrestrained rectitude of his conduct. Other men are honest in the fear of the punishment which the law might inflict; they are religious in expectation of being rewarded, or in dread of the devil, in the next world. A Freemason would be just if there were no laws, human or divine, except those which are written in his heart by the finger of his Creator. In every climate, under every system of religion, he is the same. He kneels before the universal throne of God, in gratitude for the blessings he has received, and in humble solicitation for his future protection. He venerates the good men of all religions. He disturbs not the religion of others. He restrains his passions, because they cannot be indulged without injuring his neighbor or himself. He gives no offense, because he does not choose to be offended. He contracts no debts which he is not certain that he can discharge, because he is honest upon principle."

GEN. PERSHING CALLS NATION TO DEFEND ITS DEMOCRACY.

The memory of America's soldier dead was commemorated in the Marble Amphitheatre at Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery on May 30, 1936, with President Roosevelt leading in the ceremonies. Speaking on behalf of the President, Gen. John J. Pershing warned of the danger of another war and emphasized the need for the defense of our national ideals of "liberty and justice", that we may not "become the prey of a dictator".

Referring to the conditions throughout the world and declaring the times "critical", the speaker said in the interest of peace that "it is essential, first of all, that we Americans should apply ourselves assiduously and unselfishly, without regard to political faith, to putting our own house in order."

Commenting on the prevalent war feeling, the leader of the American Forces in France said, in part:

"It seems amazing that civilized nations should adhere to war as an element of national policy. Yet the danger of its recurrence and the fear of its consequences are causing the utmost unrest, and even now, less than a score of years after the World War, armies and armaments are being rapidly multiplied until in many countries the burden seems wholly unbearable."

Declaring that "those whose memory we revere counted not the cost nor shunned the sacrifice," * * * that they followed no ambitious prince or ruthless potentate," the General went on: "It is not enough that we pay them tribute as we reverently take part in the ceremonies of this day. These holy rites should arouse a new consciousness of the responsibility that rests upon us to serve the nation for which our comrades fought and died."

"They should inspire us to reconsecrate our lives to the better fulfillment of our obligations to the living, and to rededicate ourselves to the unending battle for the ideals of liberty and justice under the government that Providence has placed in our keeping."

The speaker stressed the need for following the plan laid down by the founders of our Nation. The operation of the Constitution, he averred, is not automatic. It "demands the personal interest and the active direction of all its citizens." "A free government," he said, "can be maintained only by constant vigilance."

General Pershing declared these situations to be almost, if not quite, axiomatic: (1) "that a people who claimantly submit to unreasonable demands of a clamorous minority will certainly become the prey of a dictator; (2) that there can be no permanence for a nation whose people have only a selfish interest in its welfare; and (3) that people who fail to govern themselves are destined one day to become a subject people."

DICTATORS FEAR FREE PRESS.

At the recent fiftieth annual convention of the members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, especial stress was laid by various distinguished speakers on the need for maintaining inviolate the ancient American doctrine of freedom of the press.

Colonel Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago News, said: "A free press and a dictator cannot live in the same country. If a free press exists, a dictator is unhorsed—and the people retain their liberties. If a free press is destroyed, a dictator thrives—and the liberties of the people disappear."

Sir Willmot Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times said: "The newspapers of today are not free in all lands, but where they still have liberty and defend it—against enemies without and within—where they stand for discussion and agreement, setting themselves unbreakably against the regimentation of customs and obedience by goose-step, even the cynic may find a place for hope."

Other speakers presented similar views. And it is difficult to see how any man with a knowledge of world history, ancient and modern, could disagree. The two greatest treas-
